

Jack Isaac Rabinovitch

jrabinovitch@g.harvard.edu

Ling 112 Section

September 9

Section
Fridays 9:00–10:00
Boylston 335

Office Hours
Tuesdays 3:00–4:00
2 Arrow St Room 423

Section Structure

A typical section will consist of discussing readings for the previous class, exercises and practice regarding the material of the previous class, demonstrations on how linguists may go about solving problems or creating hypotheses regarding theories, and generally answering questions regarding the class and section material. I encourage you all to email me questions or difficulties about class material a day or so before section so that I may discuss them in class, or to bring them up in section for me to answer. There's no such thing as a stupid question! On weeks where assignments are due, I will use part of the section to go over the assignment; feel free to email me or meet in office hour with me to discuss about areas of the assignments which you find difficult.

Expectations

Section participation counts for 20% of the grade of this course. Participation includes being present for the section, participating in in-section activities, and bringing questions/comments regarding course material in section. If you will be absent from a section, please email me ahead of time to let me know, and we can figure out a time (during office hours or otherwise) to go over any questions, excersizes, or other material from the section.

Office Hours

Office hours as posted are Tuesdays from 3:00–4:00 PM. I will make myself available on Tuesdays from 4:00–5:00 PM as well, and am happy to organize a meeting outside of those times. I will also be meeting with students from Ling 102 around this time, so I will post a sign-up sheet by the beginning of next week so that you may all coordinate what times you would like to meet with me.